

CANTILLON SAYS PITCHING PHENOM WILL COME SOON

Deal Closed Whereby Sensational Twirler Will Arrive Early in September.

VETERAN M. KAHOE COMMENDS PLAYER

Thinks New Recruit May Prove a Second Walter Johnson.

By THOMAS KIRBY.

Before taps is sounded at National Park in October, local fans will have an opportunity to see a pitching phenom, who is touted as a second Walter Johnson.

While Mike Kahoe was following his guerrilla tactics through the bush leagues of the middle West he was drawn to the Central League by sensational stories about the ability of Pitcher Walker, of the Zanesville club. When the veteran saw the youngster he decided that delay would be fatal, so he immediately closed a deal whereby Walker is to become the property of Washington at the end of the season.

Up to the time Kahoe saw Walker, the work of the twirler had been most impressive, but since that time all of his best performances have been overshadowed. He has won four out of five of the games he has pitched, but the other day he capped the climax and earned a right to the title of Iron Man by not only pitching two winning ball games in the course of an afternoon, but shutting out his opponents in both, and allowing but seven hits in the eighteen innings. Considering that the Central League ranks well up among the minor organizations such a performance is no mean feat.

Cantillon does not intend to wait until next season for the pitcher, for he has closed a deal whereby Walker is to come here early next month, so that he will have one or more opportunities to demonstrate his worth before the Nationals close their ill-fated campaign the first week in October.

Rag Johnson has acted wisely in suspending Tim Hurst until he can make a complete investigation of the charge that the abler insulted Eddie Collins, of the Athletics, in the game in Philadelphia, the other day. Players have their rights just as umpires have.

Smith's return to the form displayed when he first joined the Nationals has been one of the few bright spots in the work of the club during the past week.

The consensus of opinion among the fans was that Smith was through so far as the majors were concerned. They pointed to his mediocre work in the majority of his games, but the limit was reached Tuesday, when he was actually lamed by pavlovitch and was actually lamed by pavlovitch and was actually lamed by pavlovitch.

Even then some thought that it was simply a fluke before the candle went out, but yesterday Smith came back and, if anything, actually improved on his showing of two days previous. Not that he completely puzzled the Naps, for they got him on often enough, but it was in these instances that Smith showed his rarest form, bringing the visitors to a perfect stop.

For a man whose arm is not in perfect trim, Smith has certainly done grand work in his last two times out.

Street has caught ninety-eight of the Nationals' hundred games to date.

Jimmy McAleer and his battered Browns reached here last night from New York, where they divided a double-header with the Highlanders in the afternoon.

McAleer is in much the same plight in St. Louis as is Cantillon in Washington. Picked at the beginning of the year to be in the thick of the night throughout and favored by some for the pennant, the Browns have failed to such an extent that it is only the poor showing of the Nationals that has kept the Mount City crew out of the subway.

While the Browns have been on the chute all season, Roger Bresnahan had brought about a decided change for the better in the St. Louis Nationals, with the result that the American League has lost much of its prestige in that city.

One game today, beginning at 4:30 o'clock.

Before leaving here last night Larry Lajoie announced that he had closed a deal whereby Pitcher Ables and Shortstop Sturke were to be traded to the San Antonio club of the Texas League.

Although he will not admit it, Lajoie probably realizes by now that nothing but a wonderful spurt by the Naps, with a decided slump by other clubs, can possibly bring Cleveland the long longed for pennant.

But Lajoie will be on the job again next spring and he is already preparing.

Our nine did O. Wright in the second game.

As we said before, watch the Chicago Cubs.

That most of the strength of the Pittsburgh Pirates is dependent upon Hans Wagner has been amply demonstrated by the slump which the team has experienced since the per-less shortstop was injured. Not that Pittsburgh has not a strong all-round team, but pull Wagner out and it is like removing the mainspring.

Rumor has it that Charley Dooley, the noted manager of the Utica (New York League) Club, will succeed Joe Cantillon as manager of the Washington team—Sporting Life.

Record of despair and joy:

JOHNSON IS ABSENT WHEN JEFF LEAVES

Negro Champion Fails to Put in An Appearance for Talk With Californian—Squabble Over Forfeit Money Continues.

NEW YORK, Aug. 6.—The black cloud hanging over New York today is not the wrath of Jack Johnson hunting for a fight with Jim Jeffries. It's just ordinary bad weather, for Johnson is not a guest "in our midst."

The colored heavyweight was to have appeared in New York yesterday to talk fight with Jeffries, and the big alfalfa farmer waited at his hotel just as long as possible before boarding the George Washington for Europe. Even at the dock Jeffries telephoned to the hotel to know if Johnson had appeared, but at the time for sailing—and even yet Johnson is among the missing.

Sam Berger, Jeffries' manager and sparring partner, is still in New York, awaiting the arrival of Johnson and the posting of the forfeit.

Johnson's $500, posted with a Chicago sporting writer, has not been received in New York to cover the money posted by Jeffries.

Before sailing, Jeffries executed the power of attorney to Berger, so that the latter has complete authority to make the terms for the fight and sign the articles of agreement. He is anxious to hear from Johnson, so that he can receive and details of the fight worked out.

LOCKE PROVES EASY FOR YOUNG BROAD

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 6.—Young Kid Broad had a shade on Kid Locke in the windup at the Broadway Athletic Club last night.

The bout was a hard and rough contest from the first round till the tap of the bell at the end of the sixth. There was never a lull up.

Broad went at Locke hammer and tongs and not only knocked the little Italian fighter down, but also battered him all around the ring, which gave him enough lead to win the verdict.

ordinary trips. When he blew in with the pathfinder which is laying out the route of the Munsey reliability contest from Washington to Boston and return, September 21 to 29, and came into contact with the automobile element in this all-night town, a brand-new blow was dealt the sloth myth that is wont to put the Gotham "phunny" fellow in the paranoiac class in the estimation of those who really know how much sleep you can lose here when you foregather with the right people.

Philadelphia Autoists Enthusiastic.

All of which it is to say that the Philadelphia autoists of all grades have welcomed us to their bosoms with fervor that has set something of a world's record. The Quaker City Motor Club and the Century Motor Club have not only spread themselves for the scouts, but have given all sorts of assurances that when the tourists reach here on September 21 they will be handed a reception that will be as vigorous as the limit and the ne plus ultra of welcome. Those Quaker City Motor Club folk interrupted the wheels of progress and the Chalmers-Detroit "Bluebird" as soon as we arrived at the Walton on Wednesday, and sort of kidnaped us before the Century Motor Club delegates could get in their hooks; but yesterday H. T. Usher, treasurer of the Century Motor Club, hove into view and escorted the whole bunch of us to the clubhouse, at 1806 North Broad street. He can work that escort gag just as often as he wants, for we wish to state that the Century is one of the nicest auto organizations on the map.

Has Attractive Clubhouse.

Its house is as big as a young hotel and has enough attractions for strangers and body punches for us to make even a true reformer cheer up and agree that life is worth living despite the fact that all the pleasures of life have not yet been legislated against. Mr. Usher extended a most cordial invitation to all the Munseys to make the clubhouse their headquarters when they reach Philadelphia, and those who accept are going to get a bundle of pleasant memories to carry away with them.

At the Quaker City Motor Club, which has its rooms on the second floor of the Walton, their best tricks are hospitality and information. If you can dodge their glad hand, etc., long enough, President Berger, Dr. J. P. Overpeck, Secretary Harbeck, Frank Hardart, sr., ditto junior, Lester Walker, and such like trusty scouts will tell you more about the Pennsylvania roads in a few minutes than you could learn for yourself in five years. The only trouble is that they know so much and tell you so much that at the end you are chasing yourself around the block and asking a blind man to show you the city hall.

To Stop at The Gap.

Delaware Water Gap is on our route. We are billed to see it if we can escape from our Philadelphia friends. We would announce that as our next stopping place after leaving Philadelphia today, were it not for the fact that we have come to realize that a scouting party which names its program will bar under 100 in the Veracity League.

Just to get that entrance into Philadelphia from Ardmore as near straight in our mind as its devious course would allow, we went over it again to the city hall, directed by George Froun and Edgar Dilley. The one mapped was down the Lancaster pike, City avenue, through the park, down Pennsylvania avenue to Spring Garden street, and thence to North Broad street, and the city hall, where the cars will probably be parked.

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., Aug. 6.—Judge Conline, in the Circuit Court, has granted a permanent injunction restraining the Grand Rapids Central League baseball team from playing ball at Loyalty Park.
